

OUTDOORS

NOVEMBER/DECEMBER/JANUARY 2010-2011

LOWCOUNTRY ACTIVE LIVING MAGAZINE

Take Me Out to the Ball Game

Okay, so maybe it's not baseball season, but who says it has to be to enjoy a good hot dog? There are a couple of places that will make you feel like you just watched McCann bring it home for the Braves. Jack's Cosmic Dog in Mt. Pleasant, and its fairly new location on Folly, will deliver all of the nostalgia and flavor you crave. Whether you consume your dog outside or in, the experience will leave you with a lasting impression. Their weirdly perfect Sweet Potato Mustard coupled with the fact that a hotdog is unarguably an all-American favorite makes Jack's a baseball addict's haven. One drop of the sweet and smooth, yet tangy, nationally famous condiment (it was featured on the Food Network!), and you'll be twitching for it each time you pass by (www.jackscosmicdogs.com)! If you're not in either of those particular areas but still yearn for the fresh breeze of a ballgame, stop by Perfectly Frank's in Summerville. Although you won't get to feast on a dog drenched in sweet potato perfection, you will get to choose from other bizarrely perfect combinations. You can top off a dog with their specialty coleslaw or even Dr. Pepper Barbeque Sauce! If you're still not satisfied and can't get the sweet scent of sweet potatoes out of your head, then order your dog with a side of sweet potato fries! Find out more about this hotdog haven at Facebook.com.

Lowcountry
| food guide |
by Sally Remington